

Shareholder Disputes

Disagreements among managers and shareholders can threaten the life of a business and the equity created by the shareholders. We represent shareholders and businesses in resolving and litigating disputes. Our business litigators promptly assess the issues of each matter and advise clients of a practical strategy to achieve the best possible results.

Here are some of the matters we handle:

- Breach of contract
- Breach of fiduciary duty
- Corporate mismanagement
- Disagreements over the sale of assets, mergers, and similar corporate events
- Executive compensation claims, buyout agreements and buyout rights
- Issues with dividends, distributions, and shareholder loans
- Minority shareholder oppression
- Misappropriation of confidential information
- Self-dealing
- Shareholder appraisal rights
- Shareholder class actions
- Shareholder derivative suits and individual suits
- Valuation disputes
- Wrongful acquisition of shares
- Wrongful transfer of stock

Our firm has a long history of success in business litigation and a reputation for creating practical approaches to efficiently and effectively resolve business disputes.